

ALEXANDRIA.

Happy is the man having to labor, daily, for his support, who can now work within doors, sheltered from the glare of the sun, and its scorching rays. He may not be as comfortable as he could wish, but he is comparatively comfortable. And it is a happinesss for which he should be thankful and grateful. Let him contrast his situation with that of the "toiling millions" who are otherwise situated, and he will bless God for health, and strength, and the means of enjoying the blessings which a kind Providence bestows upon him.

One objection against Gen. Grant is, that whilst, at the outset, he was not such a Radical as the leaders and ultras wanted-if, indeed, he was a Radical at all—he has since his induction into politics, and his being brought into the political arena, been made a Radical of the patent stamp, or, at least, is held out by his peculiar friends to be such! We assume, therefore, that he is not a Radical from conviction or on principle-but from "circumstances." And, this is a fair ground of objection.

Yesterday, in the H. of R., Mr. Garfield replied to the augument of Mr. B. F. Buttler the day before, in relation to taxing U. S. Bonds. Mr. Butler rejoined and intimated that Mr. Garfield knew no more of what "a terminable annuity" (of which he had been talking) was, than a Choctaw. Mr. Garfield replied to the latter remark by saying that, if he did not understand more than a Choctaw, he trusted that he had a little better manners than those of a Choctaw in treating an opponent.

We mentioned a day or two ago, "the Sutro Tunnel." The New York Times says, "per haps the most impudent job of the session is that which proposes a Government loan or grant-say, more correctly, a gift outright-of five millions, to benefit certain silver mining companies in Nevada." And yet is persistently urged by the persons interested-and there is no knowing what may be the result.

Hot weather brings business to a pause -and politics to a stand still. We question whether an "argument" upon a political subject, however ably handled, could have been endured for the last five days. An enthusiastic "Ratification" meeting, where everybody thinks alike, is the only thing of a political nature tolerated. Cooler days and more pleasant nights will doubtless cause a "revival."

Rev. E. H. Knowles has discovered that Swift's description of a storm, in the voyage to Brobdingag, is copied from Sturmy's "Compleat Mariner," pp 17, 18, in his Mariner's Magazine. The Dean had wit and invention enough of his own, without resorting to plaigorism. Probably he only used the paragraphs quoted because they furnished him with nautical phrases.

WILLIAMSON, called Violet Williamson, is said by the Lynchburg Virginian, to have been a candidate for the office of Judge of the Fifteenth Judicial District of Virginia, and to have bave been backed "by Gov. Wells and other Radical friends." He had his quietus from the military anthority, and was not appointed-Mr. Tipton receiving the appointment.

The New York Times says: "Since Mr Sumner's extraordinary anxiety to secure cal ored Senators has been made public, we understand that several capable negroes of Boston are preparing to contest with him for the vacancy which will occur in a few months in the Massachusetts Senatorship.'

The people of Virginia, and, indeed, of the whole South, owe it to the Democratic party of the North, to do all that is in their power to give success to the ticket now before the country and to abstain from every act and every word that can in any manner tend to jeopard that success.

Rev. Dr. Robert Ryland preached a farewell sermon Sunday, at the First Baptist Church in Richmond preparatory to his removal to Kentucky. It was an able, earnest and touching discourse, and awakened the profoundest sensibility in the crowded audience .-No man could leave our midst whose departure would be more sincerely regretted, or the memory of whose worth would be more affectionately cherished.

Sunday evening, a foul and brutal outrage was perpetrated in Hanover county. A negro named Jackson assaulted Mr. Peter McGhee with an axe, and cut his head until his brains oozed out. No one expects him to live. He also beat his son unmercifully with a stick. A warrant has been issued by Justice Cowardin for the arrest of Jackson who is supposed to be in Richmond.

The near approach of the time for the Annual Meeting of the Educational Association of Virginia, to be held in Richmond beginning on the evening of Tuesday the 21st of this month, seems to make it proper than general notice of the fact should be given through the newspapers, and the attendance of all the Teachers of the State earnestly invited.

An Unexpected Confession.

When the bill introduced by Mr. Edmunds, of Vermont, for manipulating the votes of the Southern States in the electoral college, was under consideration in the Senate, Mr. Wil liams, of Oregon, made some admissions which we hardly expected from that quarter, in view of the extreme course that he has hitherto pursued. But the revolutionary march of Radicalism, sweeping away in its destructive progress every time-honored principle and tradition, and uprooting all the accepted doctrines of the Constitution, begins to alarm even those who have heretofore lent themselves to these violent measures, and who now feel, that they may become the victims of that desperate policy which they had once so recklessly urged. The confession of Mr. Williams is worthy of notice, and we commend it to the candid judgment of all who have been deluded or carried away by Radical teachings:

"If there is any objection that has been urged with force against the present Congress, it is the assumption of power over the States of the Union; the disregard of the rights of the States. I do not, of course, fully sympathize with that objection; but, at the same time this proposition assumes that whenever a party majority in Congress chooses not to recognize a State government, at that moment that State ceases to have any right of representation in the electoral college. It will be said, as it seems to me, by those who are opposed to the policy of the present Congress, that the majority here have assumed the power to say that any State in the Union shall not be entitled to have representation in the electoral college. Is that a power which can safely at this time be exercised by this Congress? I ask of the rebel States? Is it necessary now that we should adopt this abstraction relating to all the States of the Union, by which we put ourselves in the position before the country of saying that at any time, whenever it suits the views or interests of a party majority in Congress, any State of this Union may be deprived of its right to vote for President or Vice President of the United States? I say we expose ourselves to this criticism at the hands of our political opponents, and it is a criticism that it will be diffier! to answer.'

Every syllable of this is true, The whole egislation of Congress has been a flagrant 'assumption of power over the States of the Union, and a disregard of the rights of the ington. States.

HEAVY ROBBERY .- The train from New York over the Hudson River railroad due here at 9:30 last evening, did not arrive until 12:10, in consequence of an accident to the locomotive in the neighborhood of Schodack Landing. While the train was delayed at that point, it seems that one robbery, involving a loss of $60,000 and another of a gold watch and $60 in money, were effected by some parties on board the cars. A. W. Griswold, cashier of the bank of Burlington, Vt., was the victim in the extensive robbery stated, and the engineer of the train suffered the loss of his watch and the $60. Mr. Griswold left New York in company with a friend, with $60,000 in Government bonds in the breast-pocket of his coat, and when the train arrived at Schodack, he assured himself of the safety of the money. From that time until his arrival at the Troy House he did not miss the money; but upon registering his name at that hotel, he placed his hands to his breast, and involuntarily ex- occurred at the Charity Hospital on the 29th claimed; "My God, I've been robbed—robbed of June. Times, July 11. AN AMAZONIAN ROBBER. - A Queer Affair. -The St. Louis Democrat, of July S, says: On Thursday last, as Mme. Guissaz was alone in her cottage on Taylor avenue, a woman of gigantic proportions and savage aspect appeared at the door and asked for a drink of of water. Mme. Guissaz invited her into the parlor, and was preparing to get the desired draught, when the woman said she was hungry and would like something to eat. Mme. Guissaz invited her to the kitchen, and was walking in advance of the woman, when looking back, she observed her strange visitor draw a long gleaming knife from her bosom. Raising the knife in a threatening manner, the savage woman exclaimed, "It is not bread [want, but money !" Mme. Guissaz is noted among her acquaintances for her energy and courage, and although at first startled by the murderous demonstration of the woman, she quickly recovered her presence of mind, and springing to the corner of a room, where a double-barrel shot-gun was Wardwell, the penitentiary keeper, "made standing, she seized the weapon and leveled it speech," on Tuesday, to the convicts at work at the female footpad. It was now the turn of tne amazon to feel frightened, and turning up on her heel she rushed out of the house and ran down the road as fast as her flapping skirts would permit. She did not pause to look back until she had placed a good quarter of a mile between herself and the brave lady she had attempted to rob.

> THE AMENDED INTERNAL REVENUE TAX BILL yesterday passed the Senate and House of Representatives, and is now awaiting the action of the President. The section relating to banks was left out entirely. All inspectors, except inspectors of tobacco, snuff and eigars, were left out by the committee, and in lieu of the army of officers now authorized twenty-five inspectors are to be appointed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. The number of the officers formerly employed in the collection of the tax is reduced one-half, and that part of the law which allowed officers to go about from one district to another is swept away. The tax is taken off mineral oils, and the distillers of oils pay a tax now the same as other manufacturers. The bonded warehouse system remains as it passed the House, and a drawback is allowed. All distilled spirits now in bond must have the tax paid and be removed within nine months, or it will be disposed of on Government account. Wholesale liquor dealers will pay one per cent. on all their sales. The tax on grape brandy is the same as that on other distilled spirits. The metre system is

OBITUARY.

DIED, in Alexandria, Va., July 12th, 1868, Mr. BENJAMIN F. WARING, in the 26th year of his age, after a long and painful illness, of consumption. The writer of these few lines could not refrain from paying a just tribute to his memory. His death has called forth the sympathy of his many friends, and caused a burden of sorrow to weigh heavily on the hearts of his bereaved family. Though, whilst his family are bowed down with grief, I can rejoice in the manner in which he died—that he has gone to Him, who looked down and called him home to a heaviful and blingly and the called him home to a beautiful and blissful haven of rest; that he has found a place of repose for his once weary soul. Previous to his death he connected himself with the Catholic Church.—
Believing in the Cross, his spirit took its flight upwards to his glorified home, with the dying words upon his lips: All is right! all is well!

His feet were weary, his hands were tired; His heart was sore oppressed, And now he has found what he long desired, Rest-his only rest.

The burden of his days were hard to bear, And a just God knew what was best. As his family knelt around at prayer, He smiled and called him home to rest.
